

Solar street light panel keeps flashing green

Why are my solar lights flashing?

The panels can't get enough sun if there's dirt, debris, or shading, so the batteries can't charge. If the panels aren't working, clean them and move them to a sunny spot. Solar lights' wiring can get loose, damaged, or disconnected over time from rain, wind, or temperature changes. This can cause intermittent flashing.

Why are my solar fairy lights blinking?

If your solar fairy lights are blinking, it can be due to undercharged batteries or low batteries. To solve this blinking issue, try replacing the batteries. If the issue is not with the batteries then the solar panel may not be getting enough sunlight.

Why are my solar panels flickering?

Make sure that your solar panels are clear and free of any obstruction. Set up your panels in a bright light area. Additionally, ensure that there aren't any misting or moisture issues between the solar panel and the enclosure. All these issues can create a flickering issue that's a bit tough to handle.

What problems do solar-powered lights face?

Another common issue that solar-powered lights struggle with from time to time are batteries that are underpowered or not quite as capable of holding a charge from solar juice as you might expect. Battery technology has come a long way (a real long way) when it comes to solar solutions in the last 20 years.

How do I fix incorrect mode settings on my solar light?

To fix incorrect mode settings on your solar lights: Find the Mode Switch: Look for a switch or button on your solar light that changes modes. This is usually located on the underside or back of the light. Cycle Through the Modes: Press or flip the switch to cycle through the different lighting modes.
